2. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

We do not realise adequately to what extent our minds are moulded by books we read especially in our youth. We have several means by which we acquire knowledge today i.e. radio, cinema, newspaper and television etc. But reading of books is the most ancient and effective of them all. Reading a book is different from mechanised instruction. We are never alone when we have books as our companions.

A great writer has said that religion is what a man does with his solitariness. It is not merely religion but art and literature, scientific discovery and technological invention that are the outcomes of what a man does with his solitariness. In the modern world we tend to be gregarious beings, When we have a little leisure we run to parties, clubs or other social activities. We are afraid to be alone with ourselves. Pascal tells us that all the evils of the world arise from the fact that men are unable to sit still in a room. Reading a book given us the habit of solitary reflection and true enjoyment.

- (i) What shapes our minds the most in our youth? [3]
- (ii) How is reading a book different from the other means of acquiring knowledge we have today? [3]
- (iii) What are the various positive outcomes derived from the solitariness of man? [3]
- (iv) What is man by nature and how does he use his leisure in the modern world? [3]
- (v) What are the views of pascal on the evils of the world? [3]
- (vi) "We are afraid to be alone with ourselves." Examine this statement in the context of modern social life as described by the author. [5]
